

A Clinical Research Study for Vitiligo

Let's Partner Up for Vitiligo

The image depicted contains models and is being used for illustrative purposes only.

Are you looking for ways to improve your vitiligo? Researchers are looking for potential ways to help. By participating in a clinical research study, you can join a community aiming to impact the future of vitiligo. See if the Viti-Up Study is right for you.

You may be able to participate in the Viti-Up Study if you:

Are at least 12 years old

Have been diagnosed with non-segmental vitiligo

Have vitiligo on both your face and body

If you are interested in participating, the study doctor or staff will review additional study criteria with you.

Qualified participants will receive all research study–related drugs (the active investigational drug or placebo) and research study–related care at no cost. Participants may be compensated for research study–related travel and expenses.
